FLOW

"paint should be free from the restraints of the canvas, taking on its own dimension of movement and flow".

This new collection of powerful and atmospheric canvases are the result of Henrie's continual exploration of movement, colour, light and depth.

Henrie's inspiration manifests itself in vast expanses of nature; impressive skies, dramatic coastlines and continually moving waters. Henrie's paintings are often inspired by water. Water doesn't necessarily always take direct reference, as in her seascapes, but can take more subtle references. The artist captures its power and energy, but also its calming, almost healing qualities.
